Art Unit: 2852

1. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. It is recommended that applicant delete "and method" from the title because is not claimed.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4,10-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hayashi et al.

Hayashi et al. teach an image forming apparatus having a fusing device 24 which includes a drive roller 31, a heat roller 33, a fusing belt 34 entrained around the rollers 31,33 and a pressure roller 35. A belt regulating part 80 is disposed on the end of the heat roller to regulate the lateral travel of the belt. The regulating part 80 comprises a first portion 81 which can engage the edge of the fusing belt and a second portion 83 coupled to the heat roller 33 via stopper 85/84 and wherein its interior surface contacts the exterior surface of the heat roller. The regulating part rotates along with the rotation of the heat roller. See col.7, lines 38-60.

3. Claims 5-9,12-19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Spehrley, Jr., Castelli et al., Agarwal, Kuroda, Todome and Daigo et al. all teach various lateral correction devices for belts.
